Disciplefy — Marketing Reel Scripts (30–60s)

20 standalone reels, 2 recurring characters, problem→solution style. Each numbered reel is a separate 30–60 second video with a timecoded beat sheet. For Instagram Reels / YouTube Shorts / TikTok. All dialogue translates cleanly to Hindi.

Recurring Characters

- SARAH — the seeker / struggler. Voices the problem.
- DANIEL — the friend who shows Disciplefy. Warm, never preachy.

Format key

- [...] = visual / camera direction
- (...) = on-screen text caption
- NAME: = spoken line
- 0:00–0:05 = timecode for that beat
- CTA card = identical closing brand frame (logo + "Link in bio") on every reel

Universal 5-beat structure (how each reel fills 30–60s)

1. Hook (0–5s) — the problem line or a strong visual. Stops the scroll.
2. Problem build (5–15s) — make the pain real; add a second beat so it lands.
3. Solution walkthrough (15–40s) — Daniel shows the feature; screen recording does the talking.
4. Turn / payoff (40–52s) — Sarah's transformation; the emotional win.
5. CTA (52–60s) — one clear line + CTA card.

Production notes

- Hook first: the problem line (or strongest visual) lands in the first 2–3 seconds — even in a 60s reel.
- Let the app talk: the 15–40s walkthrough is the heart of each reel; use a clean real screen recording, scrolled slowly so viewers can read.
- Pace for retention: cut every 2–3 seconds; never hold a static shot longer than ~4s.
- Reuse footage: film each app demo once; recut across the POV / Demo / Before-After reels.
- Consistent CTA card closes every reel (logo + "Link in bio").
- Theology-safe Voice Discipler framing — always "companion, points back to Scripture and community," never a replacement for pastor, church, or Bible.
